▶ For Developers

Are you are looking for a solution towards the new annual requirement 6.5 for PCI DSS 3.2 or PA DSS 5.1.7 to train your developers toward Application Security?

We have the solution :
Ubitrak provides a new up-to-date e-Learning class on how to design secure applications while meeting the PCI standards.

Our e-Learning course contains 4 modules designed to provide 8 CPE*, has been developed by security experts including PA-QSAs and University Teachers. It covers the newest techniques in application security for different types of O/S and needs. This course is designed for developers at all levels of experience and it is programming language agnostic.

Module 1
UBI-110 Introduction to the risks for application design including cybercrime monetization and what is required for the design methodology by the council.

Module 2
UBI-120 Description of modern attacks like memory scrapping and JavaScript injection.

Module 3
UBI-130 Defensive software design, a must today and available tools to prevent attacks.

Module 4
UBI-140 Comprehensive overview of the SDLC vs PCI DSS requirements, Testing tools, modern prevention system and WAF.

* Continuing Professional Education. The course is composed of 4 modules of typically 2 hours including Quiz. Some experienced developers may do it faster.
